A Drop in Prices for Monday and Tuesday.

This talk of prosperity all over the country has caused many manufacturers and wholesale deaters to overboy themselves of Shore and Leuther. In consequence, many of them are today hard up for money. Spot cash even with the pravailing high price of leuther, has a wonderful effect, especially when large quantities are no objection. The following special prices are mainly the result of several large cash transmittens—the qualities are all right, or the shore would not be in OUR stores.

Amerian, German, French, and Portuguese lines, with their various European connections make the journey from New York more of hundreds of miles out of them taking you hundreds of miles out of the way and, of course, charging accordingly. Thus, if hundreds of miles out of the way and, of course, charging accordingly. Thus, if money is no object you may go by the Red Star Line, in the well-known St. Louis or St. Paul: parsage $80 to Southampton. At the English port you take a Royal Mail steam packet to Linbon-$40 more plus 53 war tax. Add $20 or so for steward's fees and the usual incidentals of a long voyage, and the cost feets up to at least $125. And then you are only on the edge of the promised land, where the trouble actually begins for everybody knows that the expense and vexistion of European travel is vasily greater than in our own country. The Mediterranean service of the North-German-Lloyd is manifestly not for the suribe who according to Job, "wandereth abroad for bread." Passage on the Kaiser Wilhelm or Fueral Bismarck from New York to Algiers or Genon is $175, and you are left to get into Spain the best way you can. The Hamburg-American line is dearest of all—$20 per capita in the dearest of all $330 per capita in the "chambre de luxe" to $100 for the fourth berth in the poorest cabin, from New York o Madeira or Gibraltar. By the Insula Navigation Company you go direct from New York to Lisbon, for $75, with war revenue tax added. Of the rival merits, or demerits, of the various lines we will not speak, this being no "advertising medium." Por reasons of my own I chose the omparatively unknown Linha da Vapores ortuguese—by no moans the best, nor yet the poorest, its rate of passage being $90 from New York to the Portuguese coast. Several considerations influenced the choice. First, the little travel just now choice. First, the little travel just now to Oporto, on the beels of the bubonic plague, leaves plenty of state rooms for the few passengers, without the necessity of "doubling up." Having decided to visit also Spain's twin sister, (without which a Spanish four would be but half complete). autumn one travels through the northern portion of the Iberian Peninsula, the better in point of weather-Madrid, its exact centre, lying in the same latitude as Boston, you know, with equally cold winters, Procure a Passport.
